All-America Award

SUTTER'S GOLD

ARP ROSES INC.

P. O. BOX 178
TYLER • TEXAS

AN ALL-AMERICA ROSE—

Today, the All-America Award is the highest distinction bestowed in this country on the very best of the new roses. Plants are sent to 18 official test gardens and 6 demonstration gardens located in different parts of the country so that every type of climate, soil and other growing condition is represented.

For two years expert, impartial judges carefully check the development and growth of all roses, scoring each on 13 to 15 separate and distinct qualities. The highest-scoring roses are then submitted to the National Rose Jury, which gives the best of the high-scoring roses the coveted All-America Rose Selections Awards for that year.

When a rose receives this high honor it necessarily must be the finest rose possible to produce—outstanding in vigor, habit, disease resistance, foliage, floriferousness, bud form, flower form, substance, color-opening, color-finishing, fragrance and stem.

Many hundreds of rose varieties have been tested by the National Rose Jury for A.A.R.S. in the past ten years, but out of all the entries only 28 varieties have won the coveted All-America Award during the entire 10-year period.

Thus, when you buy Arp's Capistrano, Mission Bells, Sutter's Gold and Fashion, you do it with the assurance that you are receiving America's finest roses for 1950.

SUTTER'S GOLD

1950 ALL-AMERICA AWARD WINNER
AS FEATURED ON COVER

Voted an All-America Award for 1950. The outstanding feature of the variety is its beautiful, long-pointed, yellow bud, richly shaded with orange and red. Because the plant is so strong, vigorous, and free branching, it produces great quantities of these extraordinarily fine buds, each one borne on a long, straight stem, just right for cutting. An abundance of large, glossy leaves makes the plant a handsome one. Sutter's Gold has a rich tea fragrance not found in any other yellow rose.

Here's an entirely new rose color for your garden. The buds of oriental red open slowly into miniature hybrid tea-like blooms of luminous pink, overlaid with gold. Then they soften into a clear coral, at last deepening to an exotic reddish tone. It is truly one of the most beautiful color transformations ever to come from Nature's wondrous palette.

Here's Your New Fashion

This transformation is climaxed with the open flower, which shows a beautiful display of golden yellow stamens . . . so beautiful that only the human eye could completely appreciate its beauty. FASHION gives a constant mass of flowers throughout the entire season. No matter where placed in the garden, it always attracts the eye. FASHION'S magnetic loveliness draws one and all to see more closely what it really is!

Mission Bells

All-America Award Winner for 1950

A beautiful deep salmon-pink hybrid tea rose opening to a clear shrimp-pink color. The long-pointed buds are borne on long stems. Full-centered flowers often measure $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches across when fully open and are generally borne singly, side buds being practically unknown. Mission Bells produces great quantities of pleasing tea-scented flowers all through the blooming season. The color deepens in cool weather and does not fade.

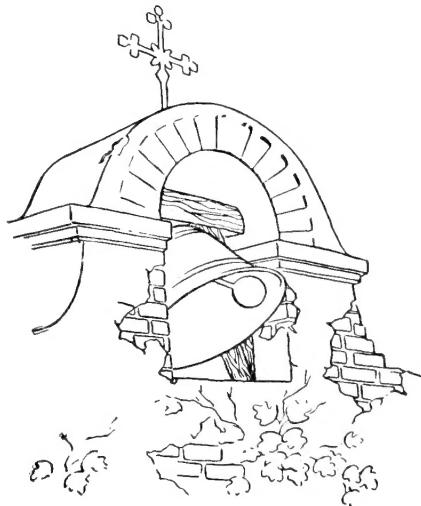

The vigorous, heavily branching plants have attractive coppery green foliage, abundant and disease resistant, and very few thorns.

A top-notch new rose from California that is certain to become a favorite as it is more widely grown. It has everything desirable in a rose—striking and lasting color, beautiful flower form, long stems, large size, vigorous growth and good foliage of heavy texture. It has given a very fine performance wherever tested and richly deserves the All-America Award that it has been given.

Rose Winner for 1950

Capistrano is a rich shade of deep, glowing rose-pink in the bud and open flower and has the welcome habit of keeping its warm tones without fading or changing, as long as the flower lasts. A bold, upright grower to a height of 4 to 5 feet, with beautiful leathery foliage. Produces a continuing display of lovely bloom all season. One of the most vigorous hybrid teas ever introduced. A rose with a great future, which will soon make a name for itself and add to the prestige of the All-America winners.

PEACE. (Pat. 591)

(All-America Rose Selections Award, 1946.)

One of the best and most beautiful of roses. It is a vigorous, healthy grower with shining dark green foliage. It has a dawn-like range of colors through which it passes, from opening yellow buds, with edges picoteed cerise, to the glorious alabaster blooms, each petal edged with pink that seems to deepen as the flower slowly opens. The shades of color vary, too, from flower to flower and through the changing season. Though the bloom is large and long lasting and constantly fresh looking, its effect is always delicate and lovely. The flowers are borne singly on heavy stems, strong and straight. They last a long time and are produced all season in endless succession. The petals are large and gradually open a few at a time around a high-pointed center, to a superior bloom. Peace won the All-America Rose Award with the highest score ever given a new rose. No picture can do justice to this truly great rose.
